NH Forest Facts

- New Hampshire is the second most forested state in the U.S., with 4.8 million acres of forestland.
- Forests cover 83 percent of the state's landscape.
- 4.5 million acres of our forests are classified as timberland.
- 80 percent of our forests are privately owned.
- Our forest products industry is New Hampshire's third largest manufacturing industry, contributing $3.9 billion annually to the state's economy.
- Our forests offer a multitude of tourist and recreational values that contribute $1.05 billion annually to the state's economy.
- New Hampshire's forests are extremely diverse with 74 tree species. These include 62 species of deciduous (leaf) trees and 12 species of coniferous (needle) trees.

The N.H. Division of Forests & Lands is the principal state agency engaged in the protection, stewardship and sustainable use of New Hampshire's forests and is one of five divisions in the N.H. Department of Natural & Cultural Resources. The Division's

Forest Protection Bureau is responsible for protecting more than 4.5 million acres of both public and private forestlands from both the threat of wildland fire and crimes against the forest resource.

On average, New Hampshire experiences 250 wildland fires each year, which burn an average of 250 acres. Another 200-300 illegal fires occur each year that are extinguished before they develop into a wildfire. Wildland fire control is achieved through public education, prevention, early detection, pre-planning, hazard mitigation, firefighter training and suppression.

NH Fire Tower Quest Program

A great way to explore our statewide fire tower system

One of the best ways you can experience the beauty and diversity of New Hampshire's forests is by visiting our fire lookout towers. Some are accessible by car and others involve challenging hikes. All offer wonderful views of the surrounding landscapes and will give you a glimpse of what it's like to be a lookout.

New Hampshire's fire towers and our dedicated staff have been protecting our forests for more than 100 years. Today, the N.H. Division of Forests & Lands maintains a statewide system of 15 fire lookout towers as part of an early detection system to protect our communities and forest resources from the catastrophic effects of wildfires.

We invite you to visit our fire towers and to experience this special part of our history. When you plan your excursion be sure to visit hikesafe.com and always follow the hikers code. Complete the Tower Quest Challenge by visiting five or more fire towers!
